

Randy Welch

ARRA Managerial and Financial Specialist Circuit Rider

Randy Welch began his employment with the NCRWA on Monday May 12, 2008. Before his employment, he was employed as the Public Works Director for the Town of Liberty. During his tenure there, he was responsible for the wells, distribution system, collection system, and the spray irrigation wastewater treatment plant. Before his employment with the Town of Liberty, he was employed with Heater Utilities and the Town of Pittsboro.

He holds certifications with distribution, collection, well treatment, and wastewater treatment. He has attended the city/county administration course through the school of government in Chapel Hill and graduated in the spring of 2008. During his career, he has attended numerous training seminars on water, wastewater, governmental administration, and OSHA compliance. He has taught several classes on water, wastewater, and safety, and flagger training.

Randy Welch will be working as an ARRA (American Recovery and Reinvestment Act) circuit rider throughout North Carolina assisting towns with assistance on obtaining loan and grant dollars. His main focus is helping to complete water audits and rate studies for our system members and potentially new members.
